Union Cleans Up Under Order; Food Tasters Find Complaints

by Bob Aleshire and Stan Rensberg

• THE UNIVERSITY STUDENT Union, instructed by the D. C. Public Health Service three weeks ago "to clean up" unsanitary conditions within seven days, has complied with the order.

News of this situation and complaints by the Student Council's newly formed Food Tasting committee of, "bugs in cole slaw, sand in greens, excessive food seasoning and dirty cups and glasses" was reported to the Council last week by that body's Union Chairman Al Hawkins. (See editorial on page 3)

Mr. Ratson, cafeteria manager, said that among the things the Health Service discovered and ordered cleaned up were: "dirty shelves and drawers, grease filters missing and shelves with clothes on them."

Safety Committee Finds Fire Traps

• THE IFC FIRE SAFETY committee, headed by George Hamilton, has been inspecting the campus fraternity houses, and although Mr. Hamilton had no comment on possible censure action against any fraternities, he said that the safety conditions are "generally poor."

Houses are inspected twice a year, once in the fall and again in the spring. If fire hazards are found in the fall, the fraternities are expected to have the unsafe condition corrected by the time of the spring inspection.

Items such as proper fire exits which should be clearly marked and unblocked, fire extinguishers which should have been charged within the last two years and furnace rooms which should be clear of litter or other combustible materials are subject to inspection by the committee.

"The main problem seems to be the attitude on the part of the fraternities that these inspections are a joke," says Mr. Hamilton, and he predicts that one more fire and there will be no more fraternities on campus. The Fire Safety committee hopes that the fraternities will correct unsafe conditions by the spring inspection.

Contacted late last week by the HATCHET, an Inspection Board official said the "clean up" order, one of thousands issued every year by the Health Service, is "not very significant."

John R. Coleman, vice president of the Cleaves Cafeteria Service, which owns the concession in the Union, expressed much the same opinion. He said the recent order was just an example of the Health Service's tighter policies on minor sanitary conditions which were inaugurated last spring after a student at the University of Maryland contracted food poisoning.

Oven Door Missing
In his report to the Student Council, Mr. Hawkins also mentioned the condition of the 12-year-old, Army surplus kitchen equipment. One oven door, he said, has been missing for six months, and the dish washing machine continually has broken down. Some equipment is obsolete.

Mr. Hawkins said the Tasting committee's findings show proof of the equipment's poor condition.

Later in the meeting, Council President David Aaronson appointed a committee of Joe Spitzer, Cameron Pippitt, Alan May and Bob Aleshire to assist Mr. Hawkins in further investigation of the problem.

Parts Scarce
The committee met with M. N. Raudabush, University plant engineer, who said his duty involves keeping present equipment in operating condition. One problem has been in obtaining parts to repair kitchen equipment. Mr. Raudabush noted that his office has just recently become aware of the

Student Life Selects Who's Who On Basis Of Grades, Activities

• THIRTY-TWO SENIORS have been selected by the Student Life committee to represent the University in the next issue of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

As they did last year, the committee based its choices on leadership, campus activities, scholarship, service to the University and potential usefulness in society. The initial selections were made by the student members of the committee, according to a point system based on the number of activities in which the nominee had participated and the quality of participation in these activities.

The nominations were then voted by faculty members of the committee and sent for final approval to editors of the book.

Heading the list of seniors nominated is David Aaronson: Pres-

Students Amend SC Constitution

• THE STUDENT BODY passed two amendments to the Articles of Student Government in last week's referendum. The amendments now need ratification by the Student Life committee.

Haskett Gets 'Star' Grant

• DR. RICHARD C. HASKETT, associate professor of American history at the University, has been awarded a 1960-1961 Evening Star research grant.

The grant will support Dr. Haskett's research for a book built around the life and career of William Paterson—lawyer, Attorney General and Governor of the state of New Jersey, delegate to the Constitutional Convention and Supreme Court judge. Paterson's life spanned the revolutionary period, from 1745 to 1806.

To Write Book

The book will be entitled William Paterson: A Study in Early American Political and Legal History. It will examine Paterson's legal and public career and the relationship between the two, particularly Paterson's part in this mixture of politics and law. In writing the book, Dr. Haskett will include a study of the rise of the legal profession, the character of the lawyer and the lawyer's special political power.

Dr. Haskett's doctoral dissertation was concerned with William Paterson. His interest in the character and power of this man has steadily increased.

Collects Material

About one-half of the material for the proposed book has already been collected, and Dr. Haskett has written articles based on this research which have appeared in the William and Mary Quarterly and the American Historical Review.

Dr. Haskett has been a member of the University faculty since 1949. He holds Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Indiana and a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Princeton.

Joe Spitzer, Student Council advocate proxy, announced 101 students voted.

The amendment providing that: "The Student Council shall meet regularly at least once every two weeks during the academic year," carried by a 86 to 14 vote majority.

The second amendment stated that: "Eight absences from Student Council meetings, which shall include all summer meetings, without the presence of a substitute automatically places a member before the Student Life committee for consideration of expulsion," passed by a 70 to 30 vote margin.

The first amendment was placed on the ballot by the Student Council. The second proposal was presented by student initiative: David Aaronson, Student Council president, had first proposed this amendment last October. However, it failed to pass the Council by a close vote.

Students took action when the initiative movement was restarted by the new SC Member-at-Large, Jack Bailer. Mr. Bailer had campaigned for the office with the promise to circulate initiation petition.

kitchen conditions which caused the Health Service's decree.

John Einbinder, University business manager, said no statement will come from his office until all reports are made. Mr. Einbinder did comment that the Union has had a good overall health record until now. He offered to meet with the Council committee to discuss the situation.

"Nobody has ever pushed the buying of new equipment," Mr. Raspen said. He also noted, "Action by student groups in the form of constructive criticism is always welcome."

One problem facing the cafeteria's operation is low wage rates paid to employees. Mr. Hawkins believes that the low wage scale of the Union does not attract top personnel.

Current area minimum pay scales should give Student Union employees 90 cents per hour, 95 cents per over-time hour and one dollar per hour for part-time work. Mr. Coleman said he was "pretty sure" Student Union employees get the minimum wage, although about one quarter of the salaries is fringe benefits.

Resolution Passed

Both the Students' for Better Government and the Adams hall dormitory council have passed resolutions stating:

"We are appalled at the report of the Public Health Service and other groups which have found unsatisfactory health standards in the Student Union. We hope the Administration will take immediate and constructive action to improve and insure (1) the quality of food, (2) provisions for the University for student eating facilities and (3) equipment for preparing this food. We believe that students are entitled to clean and decent food."

Mr. Hawkins' committee plans to report at the next Council meeting, after which, according to Council President Aaronson, formal action will be considered.

Food Question

• THERE MAY BE merit in the belief that students always gripe about institutionally-prepared food just because they have nothing better to do. Many students feel these gripes are expected of them and many college administrators don't take these gripes seriously because they don't have to.

But it would appear that this is not the case right now at the University. For after hearing of Al Hawkins' report to the Student Council last week, University students really do have a valid basis for gripes and even strong criticism.

Mr. Hawkins' report and the information collected by our reporters seem to indicate that the food served in the Union and the preparation of that food is not as it should be. The conditions the Public Health Service turned up, the clean-up order the Health Service issued to the Union, and the report of the Student Council's Food Tasting Committee are not pleasing.

We have been told that the Union has cleaned up as per the Health Services' order—that is correcting such things as "dirty shelves and drawers, grease filters missing and shelves with clothes on them." These conditions may have been minor as the vice president of Cleaves Cafeteria service says, and the clean-up order issued by the Health Service may not be "very significant" as the Health Service official claims. But we take a more serious view of the Food Tasting Committee's finding "bugs in cole slaw, sand in greens, excessive food seasoning and dirty cups and glasses." We do not consider these minor violations.

We hope that the Administration will correct these latter conditions as quickly as it complied with the clean-up order; we are sure that it will. But even if this is done we are not pleased by the fact that these unsatisfactory and even unsanitary conditions have to be pointed out before they are corrected.

Clyde, Director Of Biometric Lab Explains Clinical Drug Research

• THE RELATIVE importance of the roles played by basic research in drugs, and actual clinical application of drugs to human beings was explained by Dr. Dean Clyde at the December meeting of Psi Chi psychology honorary fraternity, last Tuesday.

Dr. Clyde, recently appointed director of the biometric laboratory at the University, said although his laboratory deals mostly with clinical experimentation with new drugs, much study is needed in the basic research phase of drug discovery and perfection.

Dr. Clyde's laboratory, under the jurisdiction of the University Dean for Sponsored Research, came into existence about three years ago when Congress began to investigate the flood of new drugs being put on the market. A special unit of the Public Health Service was organized, receiving an annual appropriation to carry out research on the effects of new tranquilizers on mental patients.

One of the reasons that the University was chosen was the success of the Human Relations Research Organization, an army-connected unit for psychological research at the University.

The biometric laboratory brings together doctors, new drugs and patients. A doctor who wishes to try a new drug on his patients in order to observe its effect, goes to the new laboratory. There, Dr. Clyde and his staff help set up an experiment to aid the doctor in finding the answer to his query. After he has carried out the plan, the doctor returns the recorded data to the laboratory where it is compiled and analyzed for further study.

An example of the laboratory program is in the clinic of Dr. Martin Gross of Baltimore for mental patients. He has kept extensive records on the follow-up of out-patients. He had patients, who, after a years absence from the hospital, were still taking a prescribed daily dosage of drugs, usually a tranquilizer. Dr. Gross wanted to know if these patients would have to remain on drugs for the rest of their lives.

Dr. Gross went to the biometric laboratory which outlined a simple experiment for him to follow with 100 of these out-patients. He was to gradually reduce the drug dosage of 50 patients, without their knowledge. Nor was their examining doctor to know of the change. The other 50 were to go on without any alteration in their drug intake. This experiment was to be carried out over a period of seven months. At the end of this time, 73 percent of those who had had their dosage reduced had suffered a relapse and were readmitted to the hospital. Of the other 50 only nine per cent had relapsed. This was enough to prove that the drugs did have a definite effect on the patients, but many questions remained unanswered and the proof was not conclusive.

In his talk, Dr. Clyde cited the above case and four others to illustrate the role one biometric laboratory plays in the clinical research of drugs.

● MERRY CHRISTMAS to all those who stuck it out. May your dreams be merry and manifest so that your psychiatrist will have to work for his money. You'll have to forgive old Auntie for not catching too many names this week. She rushed into so many parties that she lost her bifocals.

Here's an afterthought. At Christmas parties, who needs names? Let us begin with the day of the immortal Beethoven's birthday. Friday for all you plebeians who don't remember.

The AEPI's warmed up for their Tuesday night Beer Bust via an exchange with KKG Friday night. Set in a kindergarten theme, all the little boys and girls gathered for games (Post Office?) and ice cream sodas (liberally spiked with sparkling Burgandy for fizz).

The ultra-secret Kappa meetings prompted David Seagull III to write his first musical comedy smash of the season, starring that famed soprano, Kissy-face Sandler. Unbeknownst to the Kappas, Pledge Stanley Barritz snuck into a secret meeting disguised as a Kappa Key. Quite a test, riding in...

One-gun Ahr was finally shot down by Steve Rubin, 1961 water pistol champion from Long Island, in a roaring battle with several spectators injured. Over in the corner "Diapers" Politz was teaching Paddy Callahagn the "twist" while Kissy-face Sandler and "My Fair Lady" Sue Bromfield were doing the new kindergarten rage, the Caveman Bop.

No one can say the AEPI's aren't clean. Several of the pledges induced Roy Du Brow to take a shower in the middle of the festivities to the amusement of all. (Auntie got a date for New Years.)

The brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa crowned their new "Moonlight Girl," Ruth Timberlake, at the Phi Sig Christmas Formal last Saturday night. The formal was held in the main ballroom of the Pierre L'Enfant Hotel.

At the door passing out corsages to all of the young ladies were Alan May and Bart Crivella. Cam Pippitt and Sue Reynolds were seen toasting every couple in the room. Don Bouchard and Jean Franklin, Al Harmon and Hot-shot Peterson, Don Pavony and Laura Something, Rowland Croft and Charlie Duhot Kevich and Bill Tardy and Bonnie Daniels were singing congrats to Don Coble and Terry Shelton who got pinned at the dance.

(Auntie really got a date for New Years.)

The pledges of Zeta Tau Alpha were presented at a Christmas Pledge Formal this past Saturday in the Alexandria Room at the Charter House. The dance was held following a cocktail party held at the home of Marcia Thompson.

The pledges and their escorts presented at this festive affair were: Carol Bayes and Ronnie Claxton, Anne Cain and Jim Sherritt, Marcia Considine and Ted Alexander, Christy Chambers and Bob White, Phyllis Fahrney and Barry Oxford, Mary Ellen Pryde and Bill Ellis, Peggy Sennett and Paul Bowden, Sandi Swain and Arlyn Bee, Mimi Weschler and Wann Gays, Janet Ursin and Dale Leise, Alice Clark and Eddie Plumb, Barbara Thompson and Warren Roux. After presentation of the pledges Sigma Chi's Al

Baker was crowned "ZTA Sweetheart."

Last week the Pi Phi's held their pledge formal at the 2400 Hotel. The evening started off with a cocktail party which was followed by a delicious dinner at the hotel.

The twelve lovely pledges presented were: Patsy Shirt, Lisa Westcott, Patsy Morgan, Carol George, Bitsy McCarthy, Wickie Connerat, Patsy Higgins, Liz Cosby, Pat Poindexter, Dina Kocsis, Dare Meyers and Martha Rulan.

Gathered around the punch bowl were: Claudia Cooper and Bob Madigan, Marty Mueller and Gus Muir, Suzanne Ritter, and John Hagerty, and Dare Meyers and Phil Flint.

(Would you believe it, Auntie really did get an escort to ALL the festivities for New Years.)

The pledges of Chi Omega made their debut Friday night at the Hotel Annapolis following a cocktail party at the home of Vicki Young. Thirty cars piled into one driveway as everyone skidded to Vienna, Va.

At the dance, the pledges were presented bouquets by their escorts as they passed through the red horseshoe. Kicking up their heels were Alice Alsace and SAE Ted Alexander, Judy Allen and Phi Sig Dan Solt, Ellen Cassidy and Wendell Atkins, Kathy Crawford and Somebody.

After the dance, breakfast was had by all. Auntie is glad of this last bit of entertainment. By this time she was pretty hungry.

I'm proud to announce that I have a date for New Years. So all you unlucky boys who asked Hester out, how about the next Saturday night?

The Christmas party of the International Students Society, held on Friday night in Building J, was the most successful of its parties this year.

Girls in their native costumes served the traditional foods of their countries among flags, balloons, mistletoe and Auntie.

The Sigma Nu's started the weekend off with a Christmas tree decorating party with Sigma Kappa. Seen trimming everyone were Ed Gross, Ruth Holland, Dale Hudelson, Sue Handy, Spero Kripotos, Sabina Von Zahn and many others.

Saturday night the SN's moved to the Shoreham for their annual White Rose Formal. Delta Gamma Penny Reid was chosen Sigma Nu Girl for 1961 and was crowned by Spero Kripotos and 1960 SN Girl Mrs. Bunny Lynn.

AEPI announced the engagement of T. C. Aronoff to AEPI Bernie Karmel, and the marriage of Paula Pascal to Sheldon Levine. Sooner or later we all have to go. So it might as well be sooner. Happy vacationing you lucky, lucky people.

Colonials Split League Encounters from the floor as compared with the 91, yes, 91 attempts for the Keydets. Loose balls were flying all over the place and the little board strength that the Keydets did manage to muster was on the offensive board. The Keydets only hit on 37 per cent of their shots.

Although the Colonials bowed to William and Mary, they put on one of the best first half defensive exhibitions seen in a long while. With Bev Vaughan out for the season with mononucleosis, the Buff could afford to set their defenses for the purpose of stopping William and Mary's All-America candidate, Jeff Cohen.

During the first half, the Colonials alternately employed a box and one defense with the man on Cohen, a one-three-one zone, and a sliding man-to-man defense that bottled up Cohen and the entire Indian offense to perfection.

"The Whale"

Cohen looked lost out on the court. His teammates hardly ever were able to throw him a pass because the Colonial defense always had him bottled up. He would raise his hand, calling for the ball, only to find that when he finally did get possession of it, he was boxed into a corner with nothing to do with the ball but pass it out again. More times than not, he heaved the ball wildly, losing the ball over to the eager Buff.

The starting Colonial unit of Feldman, Usiskin, Schweickhardt, Markowitz and Kunze utilized their defenses to perfection. Markowitz played Cohen man-to-man in the box and one defense and was constantly pushing in front of Cohen to keep away the passes. Cohen tallied only four points in the first half, two from the foul line. The Indians connected on six of 23 from the floor and left at halftime trailing 30-23.

Late Rush

The only thing that kept the game in doubt after the first half was a late Indian rush and the inability of the Buff to score good shots. With four minutes to go in the first half, the Indians trailed by 15 points, but they were able to cut down the Colonial lead to only seven at halftime.

The Colonials had a new patterned offense which included screens for both the backcourt men and the corner men. Larry Usiskin started the ballgame and did a fine job setting up the offense.

The Indians came back in the second half to pull out the ballgame. It seemed that the Colonial defense relaxed somewhat, giving as did the rest of the Buff quintet. The 15-point lead dwindled to a two-point deficit with 30 seconds to go.

Gaping Hole

The Buff zone developed one gaping hole and it cost them dearly. The Indians scored many offensive rebound baskets on the left side of the zone. Kenny Roberts, a six-foot guard, snuck in and accounted for three of the rebounds. Roberts wound up the Indians' high point man with 19.

The Colonials continued to run and shoot in the second half, hardly ever stopping to set up their offensive pattern which clicked so well in the first half. Jon Feldman sank three long jumpers in the opening minutes but then found the lid closed tightly over the rim, defense relaxed somewhat, giving as did the rest of the Buff quintet. The 15-point lead dwindled to a two-point deficit with 30 seconds to go.

Indians Win

Markowitz attempted a sweep shot from the pivot that was blocked by Cohen. The Indians brought the ball downcourt and set up a jump shot for Cohen at the foul line which he scored. A pass inside to Kunze, cutting under the basket was just out of reach. The Indians took the ball over and Roberts was fouled immediately. He scored. Kunze's jumper was short for the Colonials and that was the ballgame.

Jon Feldman was the high scorer with 26 points. Kenny Roberts was high for William and Mary with 19. Larry Usiskin played a fine game in his first starting assignment and, coupled with his steady performance against VMI, should be a valuable asset in the Colonial backcourt.

GW Travels West

than 12 shots per game. Hailing from the backwoods of West Virginia, the 213-pound junior pulled down 15 rebounds a game last year, when he was named to the All-Conference second team.

High-Scoring Contest

In addition to Burgess coach Jule Rivlin counts on two veteran backcourt men, 5-9 Lou Mott, who averaged 13.5 ppg. last winter, and Tex Williams. But the Big Green defense hasn't been satisfactory and Rivlin has had trouble filling the other two starting spots.

The GW-Marshall contest should be a high-scoring affair, with the possibility of one or both teams topping the century mark. Both are fast-breaking outfits and have maintained high accuracy percentages in past years. GW has twice led the nation in shooting accuracy within the past decade, while Marshall hit for a creditable team average of 42.8 percent last season. Marshall's weak defense won't help keep the score down either.

Following the Cincinnati clash, Reinhart's troopers take another week's break, before renewing the Foggy Bottom rivalry with Georgetown, in the second of four Area Big Three games. The Buff lost its AB3 opener, 80-68, at Maryland in early December.

DECK THE HALLS

The time has come to make out our Christmas shopping lists, for Christmas will be upon us quicker than you can say Jack Robinson. (Have you ever wondered, incidentally, about the origin of this interesting phrase "Quicker than you can say Jack Robinson"? Well sir, the original phrase was French—"Plus vite que de dire Jacques Robespierre." Jack Robinson is, as everyone knows, an anglicization of Jacques Robespierre who was, as everyone knows, the famous figure from the French Revolution who, as everyone knows, got murdered in his bath by Danton, Murat, Caligula, and Aaron Burr.

(The reason people started saying "Quicker than you can say Jacques Robespierre (or Jack Robinson as he is called in English-speaking countries)" is quite an interesting little story. It seems that Robespierre's wife, Georges Sand, got word of the plot to murder her husband in his bath. All she had to do to save his life was call his name and warn him. But, alas, quicker than she could say Jacques Robespierre, she received a telegram from her old friend Frederic Chopin who was down in Majorca setting lyrics to his immortal "Warsaw Concerto." Chopin said he needed Georges Sand's help desperately because he could not find a rhyme for "Warsaw." Naturally, Georges Sand could not refuse such an urgent request.

(Well sir, Georges Sand went traipsing off to Majorca, but before she left she told her little daughter Walter that some bad men were coming to murder daddy in his bath, and she instructed Walter to shout Robespierre's name when the bad men arrived. But Walter, alas, had been sea-bathing that morning on the Riviera, and she had come home loaded with sea shells and salt water taffy, and when the bad men came to murder Robespierre, Walter, alas, was chewing a big wad of salt water taffy and could not get her mouth open in time to shout a warning. Robespierre, alas, was murdered quicker than you could shout Jacques Robespierre (or Jack Robinson as he is called in the English-speaking countries).

(There is, I am pleased to report, one small note of cheer in this grisly tale. When Georges Sand got to Majorca where Chopin was setting lyrics to his immortal "Warsaw Concerto," she was happily able to help him find a rhyme for "Warsaw," as everyone knows who has heard those haunting lyrics:

*In the fair town of Warsaw,
Which Napoleon's horse saw,
Singing cockles and mussels, alive alive o!*

Yes, Virginia, there is...

But I digress.

We were speaking of Christmas gifts. What we all strive to do at Christmas is, of course, to find unusual, offbeat, different gifts for our friends. May I suggest then a carton of Marlboro Cigarettes?

What? You are astonished? You had not thought of Marlboros as unusual, offbeat, different? You had regarded them as familiar, reliable smokes whose excellence varied not one jot or tittle from year to year?

True. All true. But at the same time, Marlboros are unusual, offbeat, different, because every time you try one, it's like the first time. The flavor never palls, never gets hackneyed. Each Marlboro is a fresh delight, a pristine pleasure, and if you want all your friends to clap their hands and exclaim, "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus!" you will put them at the very top of your Christmas list.

And for further Yuletide joy, give Marlboro's nonfiltered companion cigarette, mild, flavorful Philip Morris—in regular size or the sensational new king-size Commander. You'll be welcome aboard!

• THE INTRAMURAL HOOP season began in earnest last weekend as all the leagues swung into action.

The Wellington Gents, figured to be one of the powerhouses in the hoop lineups, ran into a little more than they bargained for in the person of a spirited, scrappy Delt quintet before pulling out a 57-56 overtime victory.

At the end of regulation time the score stood at 54-all. The Gents lead throughout most of the ballgame, jumping off to a slim 18-16 advantage at the quarter and increasing it to 36-27 at the half. Delt fought back, lowering the Wellington lead to four points but the Gents came right back to add to their margin.

The game was a see-saw battle until the final two minutes. The Dels, trailing by six points, put on a full court press and ran off four quick points on a layup and a jump shot by Parke Avery. With seven seconds left to play, Avery stole the ball and dribbled down court for the basket to tie the game up as the buzzer sounded.

In the overtime, the teams exchanged baskets. With three seconds to go Dels' Dan Lowe drove in for a layup. He was called for charging on a disputed call as time ran out. The Gents scored the foul shot to take a 57-56 squeaker of a victory. Alex Sokaris was the game's high point man for the Gents. Parke Avery and Stu Ross were high for the Dels.

Over at the "Y," Delta Theta Phi overwhelmed an undermanned Tau Epsilon Phi quintet, 48-36. The Lawyers held a lead throughout the ballgame and broke it wide open in the last three minutes when TEP put on a press in a futile effort to make up points.

Phi Sigma Kappa established themselves as the team to beat in the A League by virtue of an overpowering 62-31 victory at the expense of the Goodtimers.

Zoomed Out

The Phi Sigs zoomed right out to a 19-4 lead in the opening minutes and from then on, the game was never in question. The Phi Sigs increased their score to 34-11 at the half and kept pouring it on until the final buzzer sounded. The Kappas were too strong off the boards for their opponents and outscored them from the floor, scoring all but two of their points on field goals.

Dierks was high for the Phi Sigs and the game with 22. Swoop, Reitz, and Kline all had ten for the winners. Laughery tallied 11 in the losing cause.

In other A league action Sigma Chi outlasted PAD 54-38 in a rough and tumble ballgame. The Chimen put on a spurt at the end of the first half to salvage a 27-18 margin. The Padders came back strong in the second half but Sigma Chi pulled away again for the win.

JP Donley was high man in the game with 22. Jackson and Hill tallied 11 for the winners and Bartel hit for ten. Sharp had 16 for the losers. Very few fouls were called in the game and it grew progressively rougher. The Chimen had the advantage off the board and in the speed department, scoring on many fast breaks.

Never Threatened

SAE was never threatened as they walloped SPE 82-23. The Sigmen jumped off to a commanding lead and were never headed. The score at halftime found SAE in the lead, 30-9. Bill Pasche was the high man in the game with 18. All five of the SAE starters hit for double figures. Cliff Botyos, Eddie Dieson, Gary Transum and Mike Glazer tallied 17, 13, 13 and 12 points respectively.

Minor Letter

A minor letter and the golf tournament individual score trophy went to Sondra Jacobson. Adele Pavis was awarded a star for her major letter.

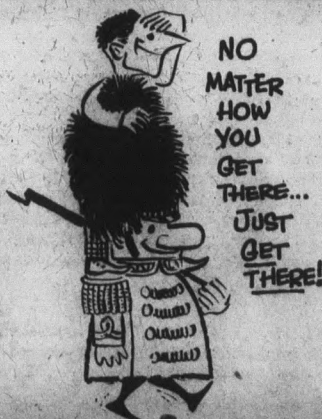

Outstanding player awards were given to Mary Guthrie and Sally Meisner for canoeing, Sharon Mobley for golf, Sylvia Flam for hockey, Jeannette Martin and Ellen Ottenheimer for tennis and Barbara Ho and Deborah Carter for riding.

Buff Split League Encounters; Trip Keydets, Lose To Indians

by Dave Segal

• THE COLONIAL CAGERS roared back in the final three minutes of play to trip the Keydets of VMI, 90-86, at Lexington, Virginia, last Friday night. The victory gave the Colonials a split in the week's games, balancing the 61-57 defeat at the hands of William and Mary.

With the score at 80 all with only three minutes remaining to be played, the Colonials rattled off eight straight points and outlasted the Keydets for the victory. Markowitz sank a foul shot, Kunze connected on a three-point play, Feldman dropped in a foul shot and Markowitz scored on a fast break, to give the Colonials their 88-80 advantage.

The ballgame was close all the way. The Buff were behind until the last 90 seconds of the first half when Norton sank a field goal and a foul shot and Usiskin dropped in a layup to give GW a 42-39 lead at halftime.

Biggest Lead

The biggest lead that the Colonials could muster in the second half was nine points, 74-63, with eight minutes to go. The Colonials connected on 48 per cent of their shots from the floor, swishing 33 for 69. On the foul line the Buff were deadly, tallying on 24 of a possible 28 free throws.

Ralph Kunze lead the Colonial scorers with 25 points. Kunze was eight for 16 from the floor, mostly on drives and short jumpers from the corner. He also connected on nine for nine from the line.

Dick Markowitz contributed 22 points to the Buff total, also hitting eight for 16 from the floor. Markowitz was six for seven from the line and swept the boards clean of 15 rebounds, high for the game.

Jon Feldman hit for 19 of the Colonial points, connecting on eight of 16 from the floor and three of four from the line. Feldman also pulled down six rebounds.

Hard To Believe

The statistics tell an almost unbelievable story. The Colonials out-rebounded the Keydets 47-29, yet the Colonials took only 69 shots

Colonial Cagers Take On Marshall, Cincinnati Fives

by Ron Goldwyn

• IT'S DOUBTFUL THAT many University students will be in any kind of condition to care, but by the time midnight rolls around on December 31, the "Happy" part of Happy New Year may have a special meaning to the members of GW's basketball team.

The Colonials invade Cincinnati that night to play the de-Oscarized Wildcats at the Cincinnati Garden. The contest will be the second on GW's two-game, mid-vacation swing through the midwest, following a game at Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va.

The chances are, however, that the Buff will end up with a split: beating Marshall and losing to Cincinnati, while the January 7 game at Georgetown, first tilt following the winter vacation, is rated a tossup.

Without All-American Oscar Robertson and his 30 points a game, Cincinnati is reduced to merely a very good team, a team that can be beaten . . . occasionally. In their first six games this season, they have been defeated twice, already equalling the 1959-60 loss total.

Hogue in Vogue

The big man in Cincinnati's attack is 6-foot, 9-inch Paul Hogue. The 240-pound junior doesn't shoot much, but when he does, he's right on target. The big center hit a staggering 57.6 per cent of his shots last year, ending up second in the country to Ohio State's Jerry Lucas in that department, although he averaged only nine attempts per game. The only sophomore starter in the Wildcats' lineup a season ago, Hogue, averaged 12.2 points and 11 rebounds per game.

Two other starters from last year's 28-2 squad will see action against GW. Bob Weisenhahn, 6-4, and Carl Bouldin, 6-1, are back, and figure to add experience to the Wildcat attack. Tom Thacker, a sophomore, whose only weaknesses are academic, and 6-6 Sandy Pomerantz, a reserve last year, should finish out the starting lineup.

The Colonials' strategy will probably include an emphasis on the fast-break, which worked so successfully in last Friday's victory over VMI. For the first time this season, GW showed some semblance of teamwork against the Keydets, and more of the same will be necessary if the Colonials are going to get back on the winning track.

Tuneup at Marshall

Coach Bill Reinhart, disturbed by the team's over-reliance on 5-9 playmaker Jon Feldman in earlier games, was no doubt pleased by the VMI result, which saw Ralph Kunze snap his four-game slump with a 25-point performance, and Dick Markowitz chip in 22.

The Marshall game, if nothing else, will help iron out the kinks which are inevitable after a 12-day layoff, and should serve to prime the Colonials for their best effort against Cincinnati.

The small West Virginia school, located at the fringe of a basketball hotbed extending west into Ohio and Indiana and south to Kentucky, was a perennial power in the Mid-American Conference. But last winter the Big Green suffered its first losing season in six years, ending up 10-13, next to last in the league.

In many ways, Marshall's big man, Bob Burgess, fits into the same mold as Hogue, the Cincinnati star. Burgess is a husky 6-8, and his 14.5 ppg, average and better than 50 per cent shooting average closely parallel Hogue's previous accomplishments. Burgess, too, shoots sparingly: less
